(CHAPTER XV—Continued.)

Tony thereupon ordered the women to sit down on the ground in the shade and not move under penalty of "getting a wing clipped." We obeyed in silence and looked on while the pirates with wolfish voracity devoured the meal which had been meant for us. They had pocket-flasks with them, and as they attacked them with frequency the talk grew louder and wilder. By degrees it was possible to comprehend the extraordinary disaster which had befallen us, at least in a sketchy outline of which the detail was filled in later. Tony, it appeared, was the master of a small power schooner which had been fitting out in San Francisco for a filibustering trip to the Mexican coast, and his three hard companions were the crew. None was of the old hearty breed of sailors, but what-rats pure and simple, city-dregs whom chance had led to follow the sea. Tony, in whom one detected a certain rough force and ability, was an Italian, an outlaw specimen of the breed which mans the fishing fleet putting forth from the harbor of San Francisco. When and where he and Magnus had been friends I do not know. But no sooner had the wisdom of Miss Browne imparted the great secret to her chance acquaintance of the New York wharves, than he had communicated with his old pal, Tony. The power-schooner with her unlawful cargo stole out through the gate, made her delivery in the Mexican port, took on fresh supplies, and stood away for Leeward Island. The western anchorage had received and snugly hidden her. Captain Magnus, meanwhile, by means of a mirror flashed from Look-out, had maintained communication with his friends, and even visited them under cover of the supposed shooting expedition. And now, while we had been striving to overcome the recalcitrancy of Mr. Tubbs, Captain Magnus had taken a short cut to the same end. You felt that the secret of Mr. Tubbs would be extracted, if need be, by no means gentle means.

But Mr. Tubbs' character possessed none of that unreasonable obstinacy which would make harsh measures necessary under such conditions. His countenance, as the illuminating conversation of the pirates had proceeded, lost the speckled appearance which had characterized it at the height of his terrors. Something like his normal hue returned. He sat up straighter, moistened his dry lips, and looked around upon us, yes, even upon Aunt Jane and Miss Higlesby-Browne, with whom he had been so lately and so tenderly reconciled, with a sidelong, calculating glance. After the pirates had eaten, the prisoners on the log were covered with a rifle and their hands untied, while Cookie, in a lugubrious silence made eloquent by his rolling eyes, passed around among us the remnants of the food. Yet under all the terror was a bedrock confidence that there was, there must be somehow in the essence of things, an eternal rightness which would keep me safe from Captain Magnus. And as I looked across at Dugald Shaw and met for an instant his steady, watchful eyes, I managed a swift little smile rather than a smile, I dare say, but still a smile.

Cuthbert Vane caught, so to speak, the tail of it, and was electrified. I saw his lips form at Mr. Shaw's ear the words, "Wonderful little sport, by Jove!"

A curious stiffening had come over Cuthbert Vane. For the first time in my knowledge of him he showed the consciousness—instead of only the subconsciousness—of the difference between Norman blood and the ordinary sanguine fluid. His shoulders squared; he lost his habitual easy lounge and sat erect and tall. Something stern and aquiline showed through the smooth beauty of his face, so that you thought of effigies of crusading knights stretched on their ancient tombs in High Staunton church. He was their true descendant, after all, this slow, calm, gentle-mannered Cuthbert. It was a young lion that I had been playing with, and the claws were there, strong and terrible in their velvet sheath.

Captain Tony, having finished his pipe, knocked the ashes out against the heel of his boot and put the pipe in his pocket.

"Well," he said, stretching, "I'd rather have a nap, but business is business, so let's get down to it. Which of them guys has the line on the stuff, Magnus?"

"Old Baldy, here," returned Magnus, with a nod at Mr. Tubbs. "Old Washtubs I call him generally; 'ha, ha!'"

"Then looky here, Washtubs," said Tony, addressing Mr. Tubbs with sudden sternness, "maybe you could bluff these here soft guys, but we're a different breed o' cats, we are. Whatever you know, you'll come through with it, and come quick, or it'll be the worse for your hide, see?"

Mr. Tubbs rose from the log with promptness.

"Captain," he said earnestly, "from long experience in the financial centers of the country, I have got to be a man who understands human nature. The minute I looked at you, I see in your eye that there wasn't no use in tryin' to bluff you. You are a congenial crowd, you boys—gosh, but you do look good to me after the bunch o' stiffies I been playin' up to here! All I ask is, to let me in on it with you, and I'll be glad to put you wise to the best tricks of a sly old fox who ain't ever been caught yet without two holes to his burrow. I won't ask no half, nor no quarter, either, though I just signed up for that amount with the old girl here. But give me freedom, and a bunch o' live wires like you boys! I've near froze into a plaster figure o' Virtue, what with talkin' like a Sunday school class, and sparkin' one old maid and makin' out like I wouldn't melt butter with the other. So H. H. will ship along of you, mates, and we'll off to the China coast somewhere where the spendin' is good and the police not too noisy, and try how far a trunkful of doubloons will go!"

With a choky little gurgle in her throat Aunt Jane fell limply against me. It was too much. All day long she had been tossed back and forth like a shuttlecock by the battledore of emotion. She had borne the shock of Mr. Tubbs' sordid greed for gold, his disloyalty to the expedition, his coldness to herself; she had been shaken by the tender stress of the reconciliation, had been captured by plates, and now suffered the supreme blow of this final revelation of the treachery of Tubbs. To hear her romance described as the sparking of an old maid—and by the sparkler! From Miss Higlesby-Browne had come a sport of fury, but she said nothing, having appeared in audience in the direct of oratory of pirates. She did not even exhort Aunt Jane, but left it to me to sustain my drooping aunt as best I could.

As Mr. Tubbs made his whole-hearted and magnanimous proposal Captain Tony opened his small black eyes and contemplated him with attention. Then he glanced round upon his fellows.

"What say, boys? Shall we ship old Washtubs on the schooner and let him have his fling along with us? Eh?" And as Captain Tony uttered these words the lid of his left eye eclipsed for an instant that intelligent optic.

From the pirates came a scattering volley of assents. "All right—hooray for old Washtubs—sure, close the deal."

"All right, Washtubs, the boys are willing. So I guess we better be moving toward that chest of doubloons." It was arranged that Slinker and a cross-eyed man named Horny should remain at the camp on guard. As a measure of precaution Cookie, too, was bound, and Aunt Jane, Miss Browne and I ordered into the cabin. The three remaining pirates, armed with our spades and picks and dispensing a great deal of jocular profanity, set out for the cave under the guidance of Mr. Tubbs.

Thankful as I was for the departure of Captain Magnus, I underwent torments in the stifling interior of the cabin. Aunt Jane wept piteously. At last I heard a faint moan:

"Virginia!"

I went to her. "Yes, auntie?"

"Virginia," she murmured, "I think I shall not live to leave the island, even if I am not—not executed. In fact, I have a feeling now as though the end were approaching. I have always known that my heart was not strong, even if your Aunt Susan did call it indigestion. But oh, my dear child, it is not my digestion—it is my heart that has been wounded! To have reposed such confidence in a serpent! To realize that I might have been impaled upon its fangs! Oh, my dear, faithful child, what would I have done if you had not clung to me although I permitted serpents to turn me from you! But I am cruelly punished. All I ask is that some day—when you are married and happy, dear—you will remove from this desolate spot the poor remains of her who—of her who—"

Sobs choked Aunt Jane's utterance.

"Jane—" began Miss Higlesby-Browne.

"I was speaking to my niece," replied Aunt Jane with unutterable dignity from her corner. Her small features had all but disappeared in her swollen face, and her hair had slipped down at a rakish angle over one eye. But, of course, being Aunt Jane, she must choose this moment to be queenly.

"There, there, auntie," I said soothingly.

ingly, "of course you are not going to leave your bones on this island. If you did you know, you and Bill Halliwell might ha'n't around together—think how cozy! (Here Aunt Jane gave a convulsive shudder.) As to my being married, if you were betting just now on anybody's chances, they would have to be Captain Magnus', wouldn't they?"

"Good gracious, Virginia!" shrieked Aunt Jane faintly. But I went on relentlessly, determined to distract her mind from thoughts of her approaching end.

"All things considered, I suppose I really ought to ask you to put my affairs in order when you get back. If I am carried off by the pirates, naturally I shall have to jump overboard at once, though I dislike the idea of drowning, and especially of being eaten by sharks. Would you mind putting up a little headstone—it needn't cost much—in the family plot, with just 'Virginia' on it? And anything of mine that you don't want yourself I'd like Bess to have for the baby, please. Ask her when the little duck is old enough to tell her my sad story—"

By this time Aunt Jane was sobbing loudly and waving her little hands about in wild beseeching.

"Jane!" broke in Miss Browne again in awful tones. But at that moment the door of the cabin opened and the face of Slinker peered in.

"Say," he remarked, "there ain't no sense in you girls stayin' cooped up here that I see. I guess me and Horney can stand you off if you try to rush us. Come out and cool off a little."

The great heat of the day was over and the sun already dropping behind the peak of the island. Mr. Shaw and Cuthbert had been allowed to sit in the shade, and I thought their wrists were not too tightly bound for comfort. Cookie had been released, and under the eye of Horney was getting supper. Crusoe had earlier in the day received a kick in the ribs from Captain Magnus, fortunately too much occupied with the prisoners to pursue his vengeance further, and had fled precipitately, to my enormous relief. The dog was quite wise enough to know that he would help me best by keeping out of the clutches of our common foe.

"There Ain't No Sense in You Girls Stayin' Cooped Up Here."

Just then there came from the woods the sound of footsteps and voices, and the three pirates and Mr. Tubbs entered the clearing. A thrill ran through the camp. Captors and captives forgot all else but the great, the burning question—had the treasure been discovered? And I am sure that no one was so thrilled as I, although in my mind the question took another form.

For now I was going to know what had been waiting for me there in the cave, when I stood yesterday at its black entrance, afraid to go in.

SIMPLE DIET ALWAYS BEST

As True Now as When Addison Advised It, More Than Two Centuries Ago.

Two hundred years ago Addison wrote: "Nature delights in the most plain and simple diet. Every animal, but man, keeps to one dish. Herbs are the food of this species, fish of that and flesh of a third. Man falls upon the smallest fruit or excrement of the earth, scarce a berry or mushroom can escape him."

"It is impossible to lay down any determinate rule for temperance. Were I to consider my readers as my patients, and to prescribe such a kind of temperance as is accommodated to all persons, I would copy the following rules of a very eminent physician: 'Make your whole repast out of one dish; if you indulge in a second, avoid drinking anything strong till you have finished your meal; at the same time abstain from all sauces, or at least such as are not the most plain and simple.'"

First Papermaker.

The original papermaker is the paper spider, in the dense woods in the interior of Africa, that large spider building its home from fine paper of its own making, when it selects a smooth surface about two inches square, covering it with fine threads that are papery, placing its 50 eggs beneath, then spinning a thin border that pastes it down tight until the eggs hatch in three weeks.—Indianapolis News.

The Antenna.

The Tuner.

RADIO

HOW AMATEUR CAN BUILD A RECEIVER

Instructions for Setting Up the Antenna and for Assembling the Tuner.

In order to pick up sufficient energy with the simple radio receiving set it is necessary to connect one terminal to an antenna consisting of one or more wires suspended in the air and insulated from all grounded material and the other terminal to a ground, usually the water supply pipe. The height of an antenna used with a small receiver should not be less than 30 feet. As the received energy varies directly as the height of an antenna, the higher the antenna the louder will be the signals or voice produced. The length of an antenna for short wave reception should not be less than 50 feet nor should it be longer than 200 feet. The minimum wave length to which a simple receiver can be adjusted for electrical resonance will be above that used by amateurs if the receiver be connected to an antenna 200 feet or more in length.

A simple radiophone receiver capable of picking up radiophone stations similar to KDKA at East Pittsburgh, can be assembled by a novice for from $4 to $15, depending upon the builder's ability to use his hands. If the builder will construct most of his apparatus he will appreciate it much more and probably will understand more about its operation than if he buys a set already made. However, for those who have not the ability or the time to spend constructing their own apparatus the following description will not only give the details as to the construction of each component part of a receiver but also what standard ready-made parts can be purchased and used in its stead.

The material can be purchased at any electrical supply store.

In erecting a simple antenna for use with the receiver shown in the diagram, the antenna proper and the lead-in are of stranded hard-drawn copper wire, strand No. 22, costing about 1 cent per foot. The two insulators are of molded material and can be purchased for about 25 cents each. The antenna shown is supported between a house and a pole. It may be found more convenient to support it between a tree and a house, two houses or even between two chimneys on the same house. In bringing down the lead-in care should be taken that it is kept as far away from grounded material as possible and when bringing through the wall or under the window into the house it should be brought through some sort of an insulating tube, such as rubber or bakelite.

In making the ground connection the same kind of wire can be used as was purchased for the antenna. You can clean a section of the waterpipe thoroughly and solder the ground wire to it.

MAKING THE TUNER

To make a tuner for this receiver, the following raw material will be required:

- Piece of cardboard tubing three inches outside diameter and five inches long, costing about 10 cents.
- 100 feet No. 22 double cotton-covered magnet wire costing 25 cents.
- Standard slider (see sketch) for $\frac{1}{4}$ by $\frac{1}{4}$ brass rod, 40 cents.
- 1 six-inch length of $\frac{1}{4}$ by $\frac{1}{4}$ brass rod (square) 20 cents.
- 2 binding posts (see sketch) 20 cents.
- 2 circular blocks of wood whose diameter is just equal to the inside diameter of the piece of cardboard tubing and between 3-8 and 1-2 inch thick.
- Some shellac or varnish is also required.

Starting one-half inch from one end of the cardboard tube wind on the No. 22 D. C. C. wire within one-half inch of the other end of the tube. Fasten one end of the winding to the tube but allow some surplus wire on the other end for making a connection. After the winding is in place give it a coat of shellac or varnish to hold the turns in place. Assemble the circular-cut pieces of wood in the geometrical center of the square blocks and then shellac or varnish them for the appearance's sake.

When thoroughly dry slip the two end blocks into the wound tube and by means of a few finishing brads driven through the cardboard tube, fasten the end blocks to the wound tube. The slider is to be mounted on top of the coil and should be capable of making contact with any turn of the wire on the tube. In order to remove the insulation from the wire just under the rod where the slider moves back and forth, wrap a piece of sandpaper around a thin piece of wood and using another piece of wood as a guide, sandpaper the insulation from the winding. Drill a hole one-eighth inch in diameter through the slider rod about one-fourth inch in from each end so that the rod can be fastened by screws to the end blocks. After the slider rod is fastened in place see that the contact finger on the bottom of the slider can at all times make good contact with the winding. Mount a binding post on either end of the coil, attaching one by means of a wire to the slider rod and the other to the end of the wire wound on the tube and the tuner is complete. A tuner can be purchased already assembled for about $3.50 to $4.00.

LINKING MOVIE AND RADIO

British Scientists Have Some Success in Wireless Transmission of Motion Pictures.

British scientists are reported to have met with more or less success in developing a method of transferring motion pictures by radio. Some months ago a photograph was transferred by wireless from the Copenhagen newspaper, the Politiken, to England, and later from England to a ship in mid Atlantic, so that the possibility of linking the movies with the new art is not remote.

If perfected the new development of the already versatile art will make it possible for one to see on his own receiving instrument things that are happening at a great distance. For instance, a ship is sinking at sea. The transmitting station of the vessel, instead of sending a message of the disaster, sends a picture that anyone with a receiving set will be able to see just as the present broadcasting programs are heard.

That all sounds remote now, but the telephone was considered even more so, and the wireless, even after Marconi's immortal message had bridged the Atlantic, was generally believed to be akin to the idea of perpetual motion.

TIPS TO THE RADIOIST

- A crystal detector cannot be satisfactorily amplified.
- Insulate ends of aerial wires with several small insulators.
- Wherever possible run aerial wires at right angles to electric light wires.
- The lead wire should be the size of the combined number of wires in the aerial.
- Gas piping makes a poor ground, but the cold water pipe ground is excellent.
- A crystal detector is never as efficient as a vacuum tube detector no matter what instruments are connected to it.
- Within three to five miles from a broadcasting station indoor one wire aerials about 40 feet long stretched from room to room, are generally satisfactory with crystal detectors.

No Chance.

Mayor Lew Shank visited school No. 3, and warned the boys and girls of the many traffic dangers, and explained to them their part in keeping the streets "safe for boys and girls." He asked the boys how many wished to be police officers.

One tow-headed little chap held up his hand.

"I want-a be a cop," he piped.

"Are you Irish?" the mayor asked.

"Nope," came the reply.

"Well, there isn't any chance for you, son. You'd better take up something else," was the mayor's disappointing advice.—Indianapolis News.

TANLAC KEEPS HIM FIT, SAYS McGRAW

Has Used It for Years With Splendid Results—Fine for Run Down Condition.

"For four years Tanlac has kept me in the pink of condition as I take a few doses of it every time I feel a little run down and it always builds me up again," said Wm. A. McGraw, 207 Beach Place, Tampa, Fla.

"I began taking Tanlac first about four years ago when I was in a very bad state of health and had been run down for several years. I was always taking laxatives, too, but I believe they did me more harm than good. Tanlac made me feel like a new man in a very short time and I have never had a return of any of my old troubles. The reason of this I am firmly convinced is that I always have Tanlac handy and take a few doses every time I feel a bit under the weather."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

NATIONAL SCOUT COUNCIL

The national council of the Boy Scouts of America held its twelfth annual meeting at Chicago, March 29 and 30. At this gathering were assembled the national leaders of scouting from all over the country to hear the reports of the past year's work and formulate plans and policies for the year to come. Every state in the Union was represented at this assemblage which is the big event of the year for the organization. The report of the chief scout executive was particularly interesting in that it summed up the outstanding events of the biggest year in the history of the movement, biggest not only in numbers but in remarkable progress and achievement. National Scout Commissioner Daniel Carter Beard reported for the National Court of Honor, of which he is chairman, telling something of the heroic work done by scouts in life-saving. Other strikingly interesting reports were those of L. L. McDonald, director of the department of camping, and Lorne W. Barclay, director of the department of education, which is specifically charged with the development of helpful relationship between scouting and churches and schools, a work which has made great strides during the past year.

Resolutions were adopted during the sessions conveying greetings to scouts of other nations and expressing appreciation of the generous co-operation of the American Legion, Rotary, Kiwanis and other national organizations in promoting scouting.

Resolutions of appreciation were also passed in recognition of the splendid gratuitous service of scoutmasters and other volunteer leaders and of the faithful work done by the heads of departments and others at the national council headquarters in New York city.

Letters and telegrams of congratulation and greeting were received from President Harding, from cabinet members and from governors of a large number of states as well as from Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the National Catholic Welfare council, the Federal council of Churches and other organizations. These messages were read at the "Twelfth Birthday Dinner" at which Walter W. Head of Omaha was toastmaster and music was furnished by a Boy Scout orchestra of Chicago.

NEED NO GRUB OR TENTS

Scouts of New York City will be able soon to go on a week's hike without the trouble of carrying grub or shelter tents. This is the plan of Chief Gordon, and it is now being actively carried out by two members of Troop 208, Bronx, who are building and marking White Bar Trail. This is a trail being laid out at the Kanohwahke camps, encircling the country about them. Its total length will be more than forty level miles, that is, miles as measured on a map. The hills and valleys will probably make this distance 25 to 50 per cent more. To cover the whole trail will require a hike of five and a half days. In providing for accommodations at night, it is Chief Gordon's plan to establish a series of five camps at one-day intervals on the way.

SCOUTS GET RED CROSS MEDALS

Scouts William Johnson of Spokane, Wash., and Wray Farmin of Sandpoint, Idaho, who recently received gold medals from the National Court of Honor for their heroic service in saving the lives of three women from drowning last summer, have also been honored with the first prize offered by the life saving department of the American Red Cross "for exceptional meritorious action in saving lives and rendering first aid to the injured during the year 1921." Both boys have been scouts since they were twelve years old. Both are Eagles and have qualified as American Red Cross life savers.

BUILD BRIDGE WITHOUT NAILS

During the scouting carnival given in the city auditorium at Omaha, Neb., boy scouts roused the interest of spectators by building a 54-foot bridge without nails, which was strong enough to bear the weight of an automobile. Six different groups of boys, each demonstrating a different scouting activity, were in action at the same time.

DOINGS OF SCOUTS

Butte, Mont., troops have been receiving a course of instruction in first aid from the United States bureau of mines, safety rescue car No. 11, in charge of H. E. Gallison, United States safety official.

Logan, Utah, troops were proud hosts during anniversary week to Governor Charles R. Mabey, who took the oath which made him a regular Tenderfoot. The Governor announced his intention of going to camp with the boys next summer.

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

TOOK THREE ENEMY SCALPS

Exploit of Indian Girl Made Her Famous Among the Tribes of the Northwest.

One of the most warlike of Indian maidens was Hanging Cloud, a Chippewa girl, the daughter of Na-nong-bee, chief of a branch of that tribe which occupied the territory around Rice lake in northern Wisconsin, some 75 years ago. In her hair Hanging Cloud wore three eagle plumes, signifying that she had slain that many braves in battle.

This exploit she performed when a party, including herself and her father, were ambushed by a force of Sioux, the Chippewas' traditional enemies. Her father was slain, and Hanging Cloud, feigning death, waited until the Sioux came to secure the scalps of the slain Chippewas, and then, seizing her father's rifle, killed one and, in the pursuit which followed, succeeded in killing two more. She scorned to marry one of her own tribe, for she could not espouse herself to a lesser warrior than she, and so she finally married a white man, with whom she lived for many years near Rice lake.

He Would Work Then.

Tired Tim knocked at the door of a cottage. It was a chilly day, and he was very hungry.

The old lady who opened the door was a good sort. She asked him into the kitchen and placed before him a nicely cooked meal, and asked him why he did not go to work.

"I would," replied Tim, "if I had the tools."

"What sort of tools do you want?" inquired the old lady.

"A knife and fork," said Tired Tim.

A bank teller always has something of interest on hand.

He Was Two of a Kind.

The marine was six feet five inches in height, and the quartermaster sergeant at Paris Island was a bit worried for fear he would be unable to find a uniform to fit him.

"You sure are a whopping big marine," he said at last. "I'll bet your father and mother were giants."

"Nope," said the husky. "Father was a little guy, only five feet four, and mother only came up to father's shoulder."

"That's odd—very odd!" commented the Q. M. How do you account for your huge size?"

"Well, sarge," explained the husky, "just between you and me I think I'm twins."—The Leatherneck.

Of Another Race.

Mrs. Subbubs had hired a green country girl whose looks reflected the benefit of plenty of fresh air and wholesome country food. One morning Mrs. Subbubs entered the kitchen just after the grocer's boy had been there and she said to the girl, "Why, Hester, what a rosy, happy face you have this morning. You look as if the dew had kissed you."

Hester's face grew still rosier and her eyes sought the floor.

"Please'm," she murmured, "he isn't a Jew, his name is Michael."

We are perfectly willing to accept the rule of the majority, providing the majority says what it ought to say.

When Hungry Little Muscles Say, "Please Help Me"

DID you ever stop to think who it really is that's talking, when childish voices raise a clamor, "Mother, I'm hungry?"

It's really muscles and bones and nerves and cells worn in the stress and strain of play—that are calling for rebuilding material.

What kind of an answer? The right thing, or just anything? It makes a big difference.

Grape-Nuts, so deliciously crisp and appetizing to taste, and so quick and convenient to serve, is a splendid food for rebuilding young bodies. All the wonderful nutriment put in wheat and barley by Nature, including the vital mineral elements, is there—and Grape-Nuts digests easily, quickly and completely. Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is exceptionally nourishing.

"That's splendid!" says appetite. "That's just the need!" say the hungry muscles, nerves and bones.

Ready to serve right from the package—always crisp and fresh. A favorite dish with all the family. Sold by grocers.

WORLD WAR VETERANS' BUILDING AT ELGIN STATE HOSPITAL

Inset—Judge C. H. Jenkins, Director Public Welfare; Governor Small; Hanford MacNider, National Commander, American Legion; W. R. McCauley, State Commander, American Legion.

Elaborate Plans Made for Dedication of War Veterans' Building at Elgin; American Legion Men to Be Present

Governor Small and National and State Commanders of Legion Will Speak.

Elgin, Ill., May 23.—Five thousand World War Veterans, representing 150 posts in Illinois are expected to attend the exercises here next Sunday at the dedication of the new building for World War Veterans at the Elgin State hospital. The principal addresses will be delivered by National Commander Hanford MacNider and State Commander W. R. McCauley of the American Legion, Gov. Len Small and Director C. H. Jenkins of the Department of Public Welfare.

The building is the first to be completed under the terms of an appro-pration made by the last general assembly at the urgent request of Governor Small, for the treatment and rehabilitation of veterans in the State insane hospitals. It cost approximately $150,000 and will house 250 patients. It has a frontage of 273 feet and contains dormitories, dining rooms, serving rooms, day rooms, toilets, baths, wash rooms, linen rooms and clothing and mending rooms. A large court and 1,500 feet of sidewalk provide room for outdoor exercise and recreation. The physically sick will be cared for in small wards of from five to six beds each and a separate entrance permits relatives to enter these wards without coming in contact with other parts of the building. New furniture of the highest quality has been provided at a cost of between $10,000 and $15,000, and every effort has been made to make the building as home-like and pleasant as possible, as it is believed the environment will have an effect upon the recovery of the afflicted veterans.

The cost of the construction has been reduced materially by the use of institution inmates wherever possible under the new system of occupational therapy. All of the common labor was furnished by hospital inmates. They did all of the excavating and furnished all of the concrete blocks. Material was provided from the sand and gravel pits owned and operated by the hospital.

At the exercises next Sunday, which will be held in front of the building, where a large stand has been erected, two battalions of boys from St. Charles School for Boys will be present with their band.

Another similar building is under course of construction at the Jacksonville State hospital.

TINLEY PARK

Charles Andres was stricken with appendicitis last week, and underwent an operation at the St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, Saturday. He is convalescing nicely.

The Tinley Park team will play the Manteno team here on the 4th of July, at the Fulton diamond, and will do their best to wrest the honors from them.

The State Highway Department is having a big force of men engaged in cutting down the grades and making new culverts and bridges, preparatory to the laying of the new concrete road thru Goesselville and Tinley Park.

Mrs. H. Miller, daughter Dorothy, and Mrs. Christianson, of Mokena, were guests at the Henry Wilke home Sunday.

The Luther League of the Zion Lutheran church held a big social gathering at the home of Harold Siemsen, Saturday night, about forty guests being present.

A big birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goessel, Friday night, when the birthdays of Clarence Goessel and Ervin Brockman were celebrated. Sixty guests were entertained at a lawn party. Dancing was one of the chief diversions of the evening. A midnight luncheon was served. All enjoyed a real jolly time.

A company of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Fred Schmiediknecht, Sunday night, to celebrate her birthday. The usual good time prevailed.

George Lorenz will hold a Pentecost dance, at Saenger hall, on Monday, June 5th.

RAIN WORTH MONEY TO FARMERS
The rain last week was worth money to farmers. It softened the ground sufficiently to allow the corn to grow. The ground was very hard and lumpy, and many farmers feared that the corn would never sprout, but now it can be put in proper condition. The greater part of the corn crop is in the ground.

Everybody is getting it! What? Why, the fishing fever. This is a contagious disease, and is spreading rapidly, but so far no serious damage was reported, neither to the fishermen nor to the fish.

MOKENA

Anna R. Schacht, former resident of Mokena, died in Chicago Wednesday. She was on her way to her work as a practical nurse, when she dropped dead. She had taken a trained nurse's course, and stood the highest in a class of 106. She would have graduated this week had she lived. She was 64 years old. Funeral services were held at St. John's Evangelical church, Mokena, Friday afternoon, Rev. Wm. Kries officiating. Burial in St. John cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness and sympathy shown us in our late bereavement in the death of our beloved sister. We also thank Rev. Wm. Kries for his comforting words, and all those who sent floral offerings.

Concert at Mokena A Big Success

The grand concert given by the Lions' Quartet, of Joliet, at the Men's Club pavilion, Wednesday night, was a big success in every way. The program was replete with excellent numbers, and every one enjoyed the excellent singing. Mrs. Hauser, instructor in elocution at the St. Francis Academy at Joliet, gave a number of delightful readings and sketches, which took the house by storm. There was a boxing match between a "coon" and a husky white man of the light-weight type. Three rounds of side-splitting fun followed the opening round. In the finale Mr. Coon was carried from the scene on a stretcher. Wunderlich, Harris and Sontag were right on the job to take care of the "dead" one.

At the last minute some other artists who were to have appeared on the program, but who had difficulty in reaching Mokena on account of bad roads, arrived and carried out their parts. A little girl and boy did some fancy dancing.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's served refreshments. A number of cakes remained unsold, and were auctioned off by Wm. Wunderlich, who demonstrated his ability as a first-class auctioneer, as he readily sold all cakes in sight, and he was so full of pep that he could have sold anything else besides cake. John Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, is a lover of sweets, as was shown when he bought three cakes.

The concert was given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. John Evangelical church, for the benefit of the new church building fund.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Commencement exercises for the Frankfort public school will be held June 1st. The following will receive diplomas:

Sara Balchowsky, Floyd Lankenau, Erma Fink, Harold Ebert, Blanch Mason, Robert Churchill, Alma Bormet and Harold Heisner. The class chose "Tonight We Launch: Where Shall We Anchor?" as their motto; class colors, purple and gold; class flower, American Beauty rose. The class play entitled "The Whole Truth" will be given. The Commencement address will be delivered by Albert Krusemark.

School will close June 2nd.

The teachers for next year will be as follows: Principal, B. C. Saulman; Miss Viola Lankenau and Mrs. Ford.

Funeral services for Wm. Runge were held at the Wunderlich, Harris and Sontag chapel in Joliet Friday afternoon. Burial was in Pleasant Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were: Henry Klepper, Philip Stellwagen, Conrad Sippel, Otto Herschbach, August Baumann and Walter Kohlhaugen.

Mr. and Mrs. Runge were former residents of Frankfort. Mrs. Runge and son left Tuesday for their home in Nebraska.

Rev. and Mrs. Etlinger, of Chicago, recently visited at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Wesley Holstein, for several days.

Charles Holstein, accompanied by his brother, William, of Tinley Park, has returned to his home here, after attending the funeral of his brother, John, who was killed in an auto accident last week at Beach, N. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Jansen, of Schabause, visited at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Schroth.

Orland Items

Mrs. John Loebe visited relatives in Chicago Friday.

Miss Annabelle Davidson attended a minstrel show and dance given by the Church of Renunciation, on Saturday evening, May 20th.

Roy and Stewart Loebe spent the week-end at their homes.

The wienie roast given in honor of Mrs. Agate's Sunday school class proved to be a great success in spite of the bad weather.

MOKENA SIGNS FOR FOUR DAY CHAUTAUQUA

Mokena will have a four-day Chautauqua course this Summer, the date to be announced later. This is the first time in the history of Mokena that such a course has been put on, thanks to the public spirited citizens who are promoting the affair.

A very excellent program will be given on each of the four days, and no doubt the Mokena public and surrounding countryside will want a Chautauqua after they once see what it is like. New Lenox is having a Chautauqua for the second year this season.

Space will not permit to give a full detail at one time of the many excellent things a Chautauqua brings to the community, but we should bear in mind that the place where we live and bring up our families, and from which we receive all that we have, is the most important place in the world for us.

We should do all we can do as community supporters and leaders to further this project, which as an investment will bring us more net joy and satisfaction than any other like investment we can make.

Remember that in proportion as we give of our thought, energy and moral and financial support in cooperative effort to benefit our home town, we shall receive benefits ourselves.

All unselfish effort brings a just reward, much of it very tangible; therefore, let us work, not weep; boost, not knock; do our part, not shirk, not leave it "for George to do."

If we set an example in these matters, many others will join with us, and we can make OUR town a BETTER town—a GOOD town—a REAL town—where life is worth living.

The Mutual-Morgan Bureau of Chicago will put on the Mokena Chautauqua. Following are the guarantors who are backing up the Mokena Chautauqua:

Ona E. McGovney, Elmer L. Cooper, John C. Nielson, Walter Fisher, Harry F. Mall, Albert Braun, Chas. E. Hirsch, Geo. J. Hacker, Fred A. Hentsch, Emil Borges, F. E. Hubbard, Philip E. Hacker, John F. Gilmore, E. C. Sipple, Geo. W. Maue, Joe Kohl, Wm. Semmler, G. A. Kerr, Wm. Kreis, John Wannamacher, W. J. Kemnitz, Chas. Geuther and Cora M. Maue.

Work on the new St. John Evangelical church is progressing nicely. Concrete for the foundations will be poured this week. It is expected that things will have progressed sufficiently so that the corner stone can be laid some time in June.

Chas. Liess and G. M. Kraus returned Monday night from a trip to Cedar Lake, where they went in quest of the finny tribe. They brought back a fine catch, and presented their friends with fish fries Tuesday.

Rev. Wm. Kreis of St. John's Evangelical church has been attending the Evangelical church conference at Minook, Ill., the past week. J. C. Keuch has also been attending as a delegate from this church.

The village board will meet in monthly session next Wednesday night.

The new residence of Harvey Reab is under construction now. The framework was raised Monday.

One of the men engaged in the construction of the new church is recovering from a recent accident in which his hand and head were injured when a portion of a derrick fell on him.

The committee of three, consisting of August Hentsch, G. M. Kraus and Karl E. Krapp, which was appointed to receive and solicit contributions for the Flood Sufferers' Relief Fund, have collected about $25.00, which has been turned in to the Relief Fund headquarters at Springfield.

J. W. Owen, formerly of Mokena, now of Joliet, is expected to return to his home Sunday, following a recent operation for appendicitis at the Silver Cross hospital, Joliet. His many friends wish for an early recovery.

Mr. Charles Andres, who lives northwest of Tinley Park, was taken to Blue Island Hospital by Dr. Ickstadt, where an operation was performed for gangrene of the appendix and other complications. At this writing he is improving nicely.

Mrs. Geo. Conover, recent Tinley Park arrival, was taken suddenly ill last week. Dr. Ickstadt was called, and found it necessary to rush the young woman to St. Francis hospital, where a girl baby was born.

Dr. Ickstadt is now comfortably settled in his new flat in the Mrs. Stoeckman building, east of the Goessel implement store.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

PUT FORTH YOUR HAND

WHEN you put forth your hand to feel the throb of the laughing water of a little mountain stream you touch the waters of the whole world!

So do you come in contact with the universe when with a hard word you touch the heart of a child, a dear friend, a father or a mother and leave a scar which in later years you would gladly give all you have to obliterate.

Words and water flow on and on forever, carrying with them their songs of cheer or their dirges of sorrow.

They purr in the sunlight or snarl in the storm, doing good or evil, leaving in their wake gladness or desolation, never stopping in their swift run to the great sea of eternity with which unconsciously all human lives are in touch.

Consider this and get from the thought a principle for honest judgment and noble action.

When tempted to blurt out an ugly word, hold your tongue.

When inclined to ridicule, be careful lest you humiliate, discourage and rob the miserable victim of his or her last ray of hope.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

WHAT OTHERS HEAR

"THAT man isn't on the level," said a very experienced judge of humankind recently. "When he talks he doesn't mean what you hear."

Talkative, even persuasive people who don't mean what you hear are considerably too numerous in the world.

Their words sound plausible, convincing. You can hear them. But you cannot hear the silent thoughts that are going on in the head of the man who is talking to you; the thoughts that do not check up with the words at all.

You will learn in time that such men are not to be depended upon. Unless you are shrewd or widely experienced, you are likely to learn too late.

But never mind that. You will profit by what your first mistake costs you. And after that you will be a little bit cautious about words, unless you know that the thoughts behind the words agree with them.

Of course it is impossible for you, or for me, or for all the forces in this world, to make every man mean what we hear him say.

But we can at least contribute to the general sum of frankness and honesty by always meaning what the other fellow hears.

As it always pays to be on the level—a thing no crook ever seems to be able to discover—it will pay us to make our words express our thoughts, and nothing but our thoughts.

It is not necessary to pour out our hearts to strangers and acquaintances. It is not necessary to acquaint our friends with everything that is in our minds, although most men are far more secretive than is at all necessary.

When we do talk, whether much or little, we ought to speak our thoughts, and not continually make mental reservations as we go along.

The writer knows of an able and brilliant man who might have gone far in the world but for a reputation for mental trickiness that he earned deservedly long ago.

He is not dishonest. He means

Rather than do mean things, put forth your hand and lay hold of the cosmic forces all about you and become strong and high-minded with them.

There is no barrier between these forces and you which cannot be overcome; no height to which you cannot ascend when once you move with them in perfect accord.

Touch the little rill of friendliness and observe how it grows into a limpid sea of love, on which the great ships of life sail to and fro on their kindly missions, bearing to all mankind their precious cargoes and helpful tidings.

Pitiful, indeed, is the soul-state of the man or the woman who, through selfishness or blind indifference, cannot see the beauty of friendly acts, or sense the vital effect they exert on humanity.

Most of us are prone to sit in our houses of clay and discuss with one another the faults and frailties of our neighbors without giving thought to our own.

Instead of paying tribute and touching hearts with kindness we do the opposite, and then wonder in our more serious moments why the world is so cold and uncharitable.

It is a big world through which we are traveling, and there is big work for each one of us to do in the mere touching of the stream which flows into the hidden sea of happiness everywhere around us, eager to cool our fevered flesh and give us peace.

KIDDIES SIX

THE OLD SONGS

SWEET songs of old! How memory brings

Their music back to me
Until each bell of heaven rings
Salvation full and free!

"Joy to the world," the music sweet
Has filled a million souls,
And marked the time for marching feet
To where old Jordan rolls.

"I need Thee ev'ry hour," for I
Oft weary by the way;
And "while the years are rolling by"
Thou art my guide and stay.
"Abide with me" through calm and stress,

Protect me by Thy might;
My weak and faltering footsteps bless
With Thine own "Kindly Light."

The dear old songs! Their echoes fill
The quiet evening air;
They bid me bear life's load until
"There'll be no sorrow there."
"By cool Siloam's shady rill"
Whose waters floweth free,
Lead me each day and night until
"Nearer, my God, to Thee."

And when "on Jordan's stormy banks"
My feet shall stand at last;
When I shall see the ransomed ranks
From whom all care is cast,
"O there may I, though vile as he"
Christ did that day behold,
The city's walls of Jasper see
And walk its streets of gold.

nobody any harm. But in order to curry favor he is continually telling people things he doesn't mean. By and by the people get to comparing notes, and presently they have his measure.

THE FRIENDLY PATH

By WALTER I. ROBINSON.

AM high.
"If you hit the mark, you must aim a little above it; every arrow that flies feels the attraction of the earth."

This was the advice of the great poet, Longfellow. By following this rule he won lasting honor, and scattered sunshine throughout the world. But even with all his success, one finds conclusive evidence in many of his writings that he was never satisfied. He never quite gained the place he aimed to reach, according to the estimate placed upon his work by himself.

A man is unfortunate if he is absolutely satisfied. This assertion has been widely contradicted. But proof of its logic is found in the careers of all the truly great.

If he is satisfied with what he has done or is doing, he never is likely to get much further unless pushed ahead by sheer luck.

To everyone there comes a feeling of satisfaction and happiness whenever he accomplishes something which brings him returns in gold or honor. But there may still be something lacking to make his joy complete if he does not see the benefits of his labors reflected in the smiles of the world.

No matter how high he may go in the opinion of others, there is certain to be a feeling of resentment in his own breast if he believes he is leaving undone some service which will add to the joys of his fellows.

The most inviting pathways are bordered by blossoms. The happiest lives are surrounded by smiles.

Let us aim to deserve the honest praise of thankful friends.

Engineering Feat in Building San Diego Dam

The unprecedented engineering feat of constructing an impounding dam in the face of rising water is here shown, accomplished by Hydraulic Engineer H. N. Savage in the building of the Barrett dam for the city of San Diego, Cal. Cofferdams came into use as the waters rose above levels on which derricks were working, carrying concrete. The derricks would be used to build up on each side of them; then be lifted from the holes to fill them up and build higher and be lifted again. In the foreground of this photograph is seen one of these spaces, at the abutment, protected by a cofferdam and far below the level of the water.

CANADIAN BREAD LIKED

Revenue officers on the Canadian border were at a loss for some time to explain why Americans living near the border bought their bread in Canada, but an examination of several loaves cleared up the mystery. The photograph shows a "bootlegger's loaf," containing a pint bottle of whisky, seized by revenue officers.

BOUGHT FAMILY FOR $1

Beyden Bannas of Detroit, who, hearing that a friend was hard up and needed one dollar, purchased a wife, eighteen-year-old boy, nine-year-old girl, and a baby in order to help out. The eighteen-year-old boy, however, confided to the police. Result: Bannas loses the family and the dollar and Kolczynski, who made the sale, will have an opportunity to convince a deportation board that he doesn't deserve a trip to Europe.

Cure for Locomotor Ataxia.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Daily Express says that a claim to have discovered a cure for general paralysis and locomotor ataxia was made before the Union of German Doctors at Prague by Professor Fischer, a leading physician in the Czechoslovakia capital.

Professor Fischer has been experimenting for fifteen years. The principal element of his new medicine, phlogotan, is nucleic acid (found in cell nuclei). It is injected into the muscles of the back. Professor Fischer stated that it was an absolute cure, and suggested that it should be used as a prophylactic in the same manner as salvarsan.

Another doctor said that he had used phlogotan against colds, which after one injection instantly disappeared.

Boston Now Has a Fire Cat

"Bozo," the banner member of Engine 25 of Boston, Mass., has taken the place of the spotted fire dog. He's only a cat, but when the gong rings he knows that his place is right on the tank of chemicals behind Driver Joe McAndrew, and here he perches himself immediately, all ready to go and help save the city from destruction.

In Bed 29 Years; Runs Big Business

Mrs. Emma S. Brunnell of Hammond, Ind., has been flat on her back, with death always hovering near, for twenty-nine years. Her spine is broken, a cord controlling much of the nervous system is cut in two, and her heart and other vital organs of the body are out of place as the result of an accident. Yet Mrs. Brunnell from her bed has built up a large real estate business and has also started and is operating a taxicab business. She is fifty-six years old.

CAKE FILLINGS

IF ONE is fortunate enough to have a cupful of sour cream a most delicious cake filling may be prepared with sugar and nuts. Boil one cupful of brown sugar, one cupful of white, or two of either, with one cupful of cream until it may be stirred into a waxy mass, then add one cupful of minced hickory nuts or any nuts at hand—pecans are especially good. Beat until cool and creamy, then spread on the cake.

Maple Raisin Filling.

Take one cupful of maple sugar, one-half cupful of chopped raisins, two tablespoonfuls of cream and one-half cupful of chopped hickory nuts. Cook the sugar and cream, adding the raisins. Stir until cool, adding the nuts after taking from the heat. Fine filling for gold cake.

Strawberry Whip.

Boil one-half cupful of water and one cupful of sugar until it spins a thread, pour over the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and beat until smooth. Add one cupful of crushed strawberries and use on top of angel food.

Nation's Unknown Hero

The resting place of America's "Unknown Soldier" in Washington, which is destined in years to come to be one of the most famous spots in the United States.

Plan to Improve Arlington

Plans for the improvement of Arlington National cemetery have been submitted to Quartermaster General Rogers by the commission of fine arts. The quartermaster general approved them and transmitted them to the secretary of war, who referred them to the War Memorials council. This body also approved the plans, whereupon the secretary also gave his approval, and they are now to be made the basis for the development of the cemetery.

Arlington is a national shrine, sacred to the memory of the thousands of soldier dead, named and unnamed, who lie buried under the shade of its trees. This sacred character should be protected and fostered. Monument or treatment of a self-assertive or grotesque character should be rigidly excluded. Quiet, simplicity, reverence should prevail.

Of Historic Interest.

Arlington is also a historic place. Its builder, George Washington Parke Custis, was the adopted son of George Washington. His father gave his life for his country during the Revolution; and he himself was reared at Mount Vernon, where he lived until he completed Arlington house in 1804. At his death Arlington passed into the possession of his daughter, the wife of Robert E. Lee, and was occupied by General and Mrs. Lee until it came into possession of the government. Its historical importance should be considered in methods of treatment.

Arlington prospectively is a portion of the great central composition of Washington, extending from the capitol through the mall to the monument and on to the Lincoln memorial, whence the memorial bridge, already authorized by congress, will cross the Potomac to the newly created park area adjoining the Arlington estate.

Plans of Development.

Arlington has certain dominating features to be considered in the plan of development. Among them are:

The mansion house will stand as the termination of the axis of the memorial bridge, leading from the Lincoln memorial to Arlington. The

The following verses to the "Unknown Soldier," written by Angela Morgan, were read at the services in Arlington cemetery by Ada Anne Du Puy, president of the League of American Pen Women:

He is known to the sun-white Majesties
Who stand at the gates of dawn;
He is known to the cloud-borne company
Whose souls but late have gone.
Like wind-flung stars through lattice bars,
They throng to greet their own.
With voice of flame they sound his name
Who died to us unknown.

He is hailed by the time-crowned brotherhood,
By the Dauntless of Marathon,
By Raymond, Godfrey and Lion Heart,
Whose dreams he carried on.
His name they call through the heavenly hall,
Unheard by earthly ear.

He is claimed by the famed in Arcady
Who knew no title here.
Oh, faint was the lamp of Sirius,
And dim was the Milky Way.
Oh, far was the floor of Paradise
From the soil where the soldier lay.
Oh, chill and stark was the crimson dark
Where huddled men lay deep;
His comrades all denied his call—
Long had they lain asleep.

Oh, strange how the lamp of Sirius
Drops low to the dazzled eyes;
Oh, strange how the steel-red battle fields
Are floors of Paradise.
Oh, strange how the ground with never a sound
Swings open, tier on tier,
And standing there in the shining air
Are the friends he cherished here.

They are known to the sun-shod sentinels
Who circle the morning's door.
They are led by a cloud-bright company
Through paths unseen before.
Like blossoms blown their souls have flown
Past war and reeking sod.
In the book unbound their names are found—
They are known in the courts of God!

—Angela Morgan.

wooded slopes in front of the mansion are among the most beautiful landscapes in Washington, and they should be kept free from disturbance of any kind. The plans for the mansion house aim to restore its original character as a distinctive house of its historic period. These plans, made in the depot quartermaster's office, should be carried out in the spirit in which they have been devised.

In the section devoted to burials of soldiers, the treatment represented by the uniform small headstones erected in regular formation and completely shaded by trees is the one that should prevail throughout the entire cemetery. It is these very tree-shaded areas that give Arlington its fine and characteristic quality. Today these shaded areas predominate; but with the burials of World-war soldiers in open fields Arlington is fast losing its present distinction. No effort should be spared to continue the planting over the present bare and shadeless areas.

More Trees Are Needed.

Both the World war and the Spanish war sections should be planted with trees that will produce shade to cover the entire area. In the World war section a planting scheme should be adopted in advance of the scheme for graves, or at least the two plans should be simultaneous.

This means the immediate selection and planting of thousands of trees in the now vacant spaces of Arlington. Today these treeless portions, so out of harmony with the general appearance of the cemetery, give one the idea that the graves of our latest heroes are being placed rather in a potter's field than in an honored location.

The rules made several years ago to regulate the character of monuments marking the graves of officers have had a quieting effect; but in the newer area set apart for officers there is need of trees. The regulations against mausoleums, portraits, and unusual designs should be enforced for the protection of the many against the self-assertion of the few. The officers whose careers need eulogy on a tombstone should not be accorded in Arlington the credit that history denies.

Roadway Should Be Improved.

The road in front of Arlington cemetery should be improved and developed along the entire frontage. The space should be leveled, the car tracks raised to the surface and relocated, and a boulevard treatment should replace the present neglected and uncared for conditions. The right way to deal with the situation is to have a comprehensive plan made for the entire development of Arlington.

Arlington roads need renewing. The mansion house needs new floors, woodwork and paint, and, especially, the present barn-like appearance of the rooms devoted to the public should be changed for the better. Extensive planting of trees, preferably oaks, should begin at once, so that a quarter of a century hence the entire cemetery may come into the fine condition that the best portions now display. The roads leading to the cemetery should be made safe and adequate. So much the nation owes to the last resting place of those who have fought its battles, and to the relatives and friends who pay tribute to the memory of the heroes.

ILLINOIS News Happenings

Eighteen thousand dollars was appropriated from the flood relief funds at a meeting of the Illinois Red Cross Flood Relief committee at Springfield, for the immediate purchase and distribution of seed grains and foodstuffs to the farmers whose lands have been submerged along the Illinois, Mississippi and Wabash rivers. Instructions were given to the sub-committee on the purchase of seeds, and representing all of the agricultural groups of the state, to forward grain in carload lots at once to Jackson, Union and Alexander counties on the Mississippi where the immediate requirements are most urgent. The local Red Cross committee will in each case take care of the distribution of the grain as it arrives on the tracks and pass it out on requisition. The resident farm owners requiring feed stock, the tenant farmers who are often living in relief tents and need to be re-established in homes, the householders and farm laborers who should have relief, furniture, clothing and food, are the principal problem of the relief committee.

The weekly health report issued by Dr. I. D. Rawlings, state director of public health, shows a decrease in the number of contagious diseases in the state. Only 157 cases of diphtheria, 170 cases of scarlet fever and 46 cases of smallpox were reported. The detailed report follows: Diphtheria, 157, of which Chicago had 103; scarlet fever, 170, of which Chicago had 83, Oak Park 12, Aurora 6, Rockford 10; smallpox, 46, of which Chicago had 3, Peoria 14, Moline 4, Pekin 5; typhoid fever, 43, of which Chicago had 3, Kewanee 13; epidemic meningitis, Chicago 1; influenza, 15, of which Chicago had 10; pneumonia, 313, of which Chicago had 320; whooping cough, 97.

Seventy-five thousand persons have been made homeless and 3,500 square miles have been inundated in the Mississippi valley floods, according to telegrams received by the American Red Cross from its workers in that section, states Marquis Eaton, chairman of the Chicago Association of Commerce committee on flood relief, and also chairman of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross. The plans of the Association of Commerce for raising $100,000 in Chicago, and for assisting in securing $150,000 for the quota of Illinois outside of Chicago are being rapidly pushed.

When Mrs. Fred A. Dyer, Pomona, Cal., former Rockford teacher, receives a letter soon to be mailed to her by her father, Henry K. Hall of Rockford, she will have no cause for complaint that the missive is too brief. The letter, written on window shade cloth, is 115 feet in length and two inches in width. Mr. Hall was aided in its preparation by friends of himself and his daughter, who wrote portions of the missive. The letter will be rolled up and placed in a tube for mailing.

The Y. M. C. A. employment department at the University of Illinois filed 1,827 temporary jobs and 486 permanent jobs, and supplied 615 men with work in the last year. In the same period 947 men applied for work. The work supplied consisted chiefly of waiting on tables, washing dishes, janitor work, clerical work, clerking in stores, tending furnaces, washing automobiles, cooking and garden work.

The seventy-second annual convention of the Illinois State Medical society came to an end in Chicago after Dr. C. E. Humiston, Chicago, retiring president, presented the gavel to Dr. E. P. Sloan of Bloomington, the incoming official. It was the most successful convention in the history of the society, there being a greater attendance, greater interest and more work accomplished.

All Sunday school attendance records in southern Illinois are believed to have been broken when the First Baptist church at West Frankfort reported 1,146 present on "Mother's day." Other churches also reported a record attendance, the result of extensive newspaper advertising.

Gov. Len Small issued a Memorial day proclamation, asking the people of the state to co-operate in observance of the day and for all communities to hold public memorial services and patriotic exercises "in honor of our heroic dead."

The Ellington county board of supervisors will encourage the boys and girls of the county to grow corn. A prize of $50 will be given to each boy or each girl who gets the best yield. Certified seed will be furnished to each contestant free.

Formation of a new judicial circuit to include Winnebago county and not more than one other county is advocated in a resolution adopted by the Winnebago County Bar association. The present Seventh judicial circuit includes Boone, McHenry, Lake and Winnebago counties. Winnebago lawyers would make Winnebago and Boone a separate district. Congestion of business is the reason for the proposed change.

By a vote of 789 to 639, Champaign voted against adopting the daylight saving plan.

The Department of Commerce announces that the total mortgage debt on owned homes and farms in the state of Illinois, according to the census of 1920, was $392,840,986 and the total value of these mortgaged homes and farms was $1,977,834,647. The mortgage debt thus representing 35.0 per cent of the total value. Rented homes, tenant farms, and farms that are partly owned and partly rented, it should be noted, are not included in this report. The total number of homes in the state other than farm homes was 1,287,328 of which 538,065 or 41.8 per cent were owned by the occupants; and of these owned homes 234,070 or 43.5 per cent were mortgaged. The average mortgage debt of the homes for which mortgage reports were secured was $2,117 and the average value was $5,137.

End of the seven weeks' nation-wide coal strike loomed when it became known that first overtures toward this end were made by the Illinois mine operators. Although there were no hints of concessions granted or mediated in an open letter sent to Frank L. Farrington, president of district No. 12 of the United Mine Workers of America, the operators nevertheless called upon him, in the name of the men he represented, to state what he intended to do with regard to ending the strike or opening of negotiations to fix a new wage scale. "Mines are being kept idle," read the communication, "and not only the Illinois operators, but consumers in Illinois would like to know where you stand with regard to the present mine situation."

Yields of both winter wheat and rye this year will exceed those of last year, with wheat estimated at 54,000,000 bushels, and rye at 3,615,000 bushels, according to the May report of the State Federal Crop Reporting Service for Illinois. Five per cent or 139,000 acres of the wheat sown last fall have been abandoned in the state, the report says. This leaves 2,636,000 acres for harvest season compared with 2,632,000 acres harvested last season, and the ten year average of 2,338,000 acres, the report says. Reports from correspondents of the service show a decline of four points from the April 1 condition of winter wheat in the state.

Officers of the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Illinois, and allied organizations were elected recently at Alton. Peoria was named as the next convention city. Dr. E. P. Bartlett of Springfield was named for department commander without opposition. Heads of affiliated organizations are: Women's Relief corps, Jessie B. Schroeder, department president; Daughters of Veterans, Lotta M. Cawrey, Peoria, president; Ladies of G. A. R., Ruby G. Taylor, Geneseo, president; Sons of Veterans, W. F. Jenkins, Chicago, division commander, and Sons of Veterans' auxiliary, Maimie Coleman, Chicago, division president.

A case to test the constitutionality of the medical practices act of 1899 was taken to the Supreme court from the municipal court of Cook county by Dr. Robert E. Schaeffer, an osteopath of Chicago. Doctor Schaeffer was fined $100 and costs in the municipal court for practicing medicine and surgery without a license from the state department of registration and education. The action was one in debt brought against the doctor by the state department.

"Oh, I caught it all right," replied Jack dejectedly. "Saw the rear light disappearing as I arrived on the platform at his elbow. His friend sat form."

"But, hang it all, you just said you caught it," corrected Berje.

Jack sighed. "The married man catches it," he said.

CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."

Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

Out of the Mouths of Babies.

You've heard about the little girl who was given a woolly bear that she would name "Gladly," after the bear in the hymn—"Gladly, my cross-eyed bear."

Another little girl was asked if she knew who Nero was.

"He's the Good Man," she answered, in awed tones.

"The Good Man? What makes you think he's the Good Man?" said her teacher.

Then, in answer, the little girl, still in awed tones, quoted the hymn, "Nero My God to Thee!"

Trial by Ordeal.
Trial by ordeal still exists in some parts of Japan. If a thief takes place in a household, all the servants are required to write a certain word with the same brush. The conscience is supposed to betray its workings in the waves of the ideographs written. Tracing an ideograph involves such an effort of muscular directness and undivided attention that this device often leads to the discovery of the guilty party. The test is, at all events, more humane than the ordeal of boiling water, to which accused persons were formerly submitted in Japan.

EX-LIBRIS

'Tis foolish to sit and dream
When all the world's astir,
Pleasant and nice tho it may seem Success for the man who keeps astir!

You may have reached many goals; 'ere U retire
Let them be passed and a higher aim set.
O, let perfection be your life
desire;
Think ever of striving; repose
not as yet.

Dear friend, keep your aim so far ahead
That ere the death day comes nigh
You've almost reached the goal you've said
You'd pass for certain ere you would die.

When you've breathed your last
and ready to quit,
And the clouds seem to darken
in the sky,
Can you feel satisfied, having done
your bit,
Leaving the great struggle,
heaving but a sigh?

WORTH

WORTH TEAM WINS PENNANT
The final game of the baseball series, played Monday, May 22nd, on the Worth grounds, was won by the home team, the score being 19 to 8.

There was great excitement, as the visitors, or team from Evergreen Park, were classed as the best team in the league, but met defeat decisively last Monday.

There was a lot of excitement and thrills, as witnessed by the many spectators. It was expected, at first, that it would be a very tight battle, but was soon found otherwise, as was proven by the early scoring of the home boys, who deserve a great deal of credit for the great showing they have made in the winding up of their baseball season.

The Village of Worth can well be proud of its present baseball talent, for it has never been known to have a team do such a splendid work before. Each and every boy, whether he was playing on the diamond or not, deserves a great deal of credit for the great effort he showed in winning the pennant for the Worth school, with all due respect to their teachers and advisers.

Majestic, World's Largest Ship, Makes Maiden Voyage

The New White Star Liner, as Large as 400 House s, Compared with a Liner of Twenty-five Years Ago

THE world's largest ship, the Majestic, a passenger liner of 56,000 gross tons, left Southampton May 10 for New York on her maiden voyage. Ordinary folks on shore find it hard to realize the size of this last and greatest addition to the world's fleets. She is five times as large as the average big ocean steamship of 25 years ago, while her tonnage is as great as that of all the 132 ships in the historic Spanish Armada of 1588. Her interior space equals that of 400 ordinary 8-room houses, and she has 1,245 staterooms, besides great public rooms two stories high. Her length is 956 feet, her breadth 100 feet, and she is 102 feet deep from the captain's bridge to the keel.

The Majestic's weight is 64,000 tons. If she were to hit an object when going only at five miles an hour the blow delivered would be equal to that of 14,500 Ford cars. Her horse power is 100,000, and her speed more than 25 knots, or nearly 30 statute miles an hour. She has capacity for 4,100 passengers and carries a crew of 1,000.

Pershing Praises Social Hygiene Board's Fight on Vice

Results of the government war on vice as carried on by the U. S. Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board to protect the health of the men in uniform show that 83 red light districts have been shut up in various cities in the past two years.

In the last six months, the report, just made public, shows that vice districts have been closed in Norfolk, Va.; Pensacola, Fla.; Columbus, Ga.; Vallejo and Los Angeles, Cal.; and Camden, N. J. Disorderly resorts have been closed in Baltimore, Md.; Carlisle, Pa.; Cincinnati, Ohio, and Washington, D. C.

The results have lowered the disease rates in the army and navy from 91 to 62 per 1,000 men per year. The money saving to the government, saved through having to treat fewer men, is placed at $1,118,000 for this past year.

Secretary of War Weeks and General Pershing have both praised the U. S. Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board for its excellent work in lowering social disease rates and improving the health of the men in the army.

"The importance of this work," said General Pershing, "can be realized when you know that social diseases constitute the main source of work for the medical branch of the army in peace time. I am particularly pleased with the showing made at Camp Benning, Georgia, where the rate has been lowered from 149 to 27 per 1,000 men."

The secretary of the board, Dr. Valeria H. Parker, urges that more attention be paid by parents and in schools to teaching children the correct facts on sex.

"Children learn these facts anyhow," said Dr. Parker, "and they learn them in the worst manner possibly. Frequently their facts are entirely wrong. This leads to much trouble among both boys and girls and is responsible for much delinquency in the youth of the nation. Much suffering misery and unhappiness will be eliminated, if parents will face these facts bravely and not try to dodge the responsibility."

Women's clubs all over the country are urging the continuance of the war on vice. No appropriation has yet been granted by Congress.

Growing Old Too Soon?

Are you one of those unfortunate folks who find yourself feeling older than you should? Do you feel lame and stiff mornings, drag through the day with a constantly aching back? Evening find you utterly worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Present day life puts a heavy burden on the kidneys. They slow up and poisons accumulate and upset blood and nerves. Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Michigan Case

Frank E. Shafer, Ass't. sta. engineer, 318 N. Church St., Hastings, Mich., says: "I had a r.p. cutting pains shot through the small of my back and my kidneys got so sore I could hardly bend one way or the other. The kidney secretions passed too often and were scanty. Doan's Kidney Pills have proved the best remedy I can get for this trouble and a box or so have always cured me of the attacks promptly."

HAD TO STAY IN BED FOR WEEKS

Omaha Citizen Says He Is Now Rid of Troubles That Had Kept Him Miserable for Years.

"I was almost out of commission when I began taking Tanlac, but it has made me feel like a new man in a short time," said W. S. Meadville, 7604 North Twenty-ninth St., Omaha, Neb.

"My liver and kidneys were out of order and I had terrible pains in my back and sides and was so bad off I often had to stay in bed for two weeks at a time.

"The results I got from Tanlac were a very glad surprise to me. It benefited me in every way and I believe the improvement I received will prove lasting and I feel stronger and better than in many a day."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

A Feeling of Security

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy. The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything. It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

ROTARY INDORSES SCOUTING

At a Rotary club conference held in Duluth, Minn., on the 16th and 17th of March, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, we, the Rotary Clubs of the Fifteenth District, recognize the splendid contribution which the Boy Scout organization is making to the boy life of the nation and to our own district, in the upbuilding of character during the most impressionable years of a boy's life, and

WHEREAS, Boys' work is nationally and internationally recognized as of the highest importance by Rotary International, and

WHEREAS, The Boy Scout motto, "Do a Good Turn Daily," is identical in spirit with our motto "He Profits Most Who Serves Best," thereby making the Boy Scout Ideal and the Rotary Ideal of service one and the same thing, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that we approve and indorse the work of the Boy Scouts of America; that we recognize in it ideals identical with our own; that we do hereby declare that wherever possible we will lend our influence and leadership to forward the Boy Scout movement in our district, and that our boys' work committees be instructed to call upon Rotary for any service that it may be able to render to the Boy Scouts of America.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this resolution be spread on the minutes and records of this conference and that a copy of the same be forwarded to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, New York City.

FAMILY BELIEVES IN SCOUTING

SCOUTING IN PORTO RICO

Scouts are as eager to be helpful in Porto Rico as their brothers in the States are. A scoutmaster of Aguadillo reports that during a recent epidemic of bubonic plague his scouts made a house-to-house canvass distributing board of health instructions. On another occasion when a fire broke out in the center of the town at two o'clock in the morning, the scoutmaster got into his uniform and hurried along the street blowing his whistle. The signal was heard and obeyed. In a moment six proud scouts were by his side, ready to do whatever was required of them. The two who had charge of the first-aid pouch had occasion to demonstrate their skill in this line by rendering assistance to a fireman who had cut his hand, and the others stood on guard duty over property when it was carried to a place of safety.

PREPARED SCOUTS

David Stein, a San Francisco boy scout, while in camp last summer fell over a 20-foot embankment, striking his head against a rock. Two fellow scouts, Homer Sweetman of Troop 25 and Eugene Brown of Troop 28, were luckily on hand and ran promptly to the injured lad's assistance. Having no first-aid kit with them, they tore one of their own shirts into strips for bandages which they used to bind up their friend's wounds. This done, they improvised a stretcher with poles and their coats and got the patient to camp, where he received regular medical treatment from the camp physician, who declared that the boys' prompt and intelligent action had doubtless saved Stein's life.

SCOUTING THE BIGGEST YET

Lieut. Erroll B. Hay, scoutmaster of Troop 142, Philadelphia, has had a sufficiently venturesome life, having served in the National Guard along the Rio Grande during the Mexican trouble, and in the thick of things during the recent war overseas. He has paddled the river Jordan and sojourned along the Nile also, but he says his greatest, most thrilling adventure is being the leader of a troop of boy scouts.

MAKE COLLECTION OF GERMS

Institutions in Europe and the United States That Preserved Them for Investigators.

The first "guide book" of what may be popularly called the germ "zoo" has just been issued by the British Medical Research Council. The body, as previously announced, hit on the happy idea of making a national collection of living germs of disease so that any doctor or investigator requiring some particular germ for his work might be able to get it at once, alive and active.

There are similar collections at the Pasteur Institute, Paris, at the Museum of Natural History, New York, and at Vienna. The British collection is housed at the Lister Institute, and fresh additions of new "strains" and "forms" are constantly being added.

The catalogue gives the name of each germ, the name of its donor, and the year of the gift.

FIRST TO COMPRESS FEET

Favorite of Chinese Emperor, Many Centuries Ago, Said to Have Originated the Custom.

J. P. Donovan, authority on Chinese customs, in an article called "Romance in Chinese Literature," published in the Forum, writes:

"The ideal of beauty and the mark of gentility for a woman used to be small feet, the compression of which was not imposed by law but was a craze of fashion, as slender waists were at one time in England. Several accounts are given as to the origin of the custom of foot-binding, but probably the following is the correct one:

"It is said that Yao Niang, the beautiful concubine of Emperor Li Yu (975 A. D.), was light and graceful in all her movements, being able to dance with ease and elegance. She gave so much pleasure to her lord and master that he caused to be made golden lily flowers with movable petals for Yao Niang to walk on from her apartments to the palace. To gratify the emperor still further, she compressed her feet, in order that they might look like a lily bud unopened, until they were three inches long."

Just the Person.

I was taking Junior for a walk one afternoon, and he was playing with a little football which neither of us had been able to inflate. I was watching Junior when a neighbor came along.

She sat down beside me. After a little while Junior came up and asked Miss Jones if she would blow up his football for him. She asked him why he thought that she would be able to do so after I had already failed.

His answer was, "Cos my dad says 'at you is the longest winded woman 'at ever breathed.'"—Exchange.

That's Something.

"How does Mr. Grumpson stand with his neighbors?"

"Not well, I fear."

"No?"

"If you were to ask them to name his good points, about all they could say in his favor is that he doesn't try to play on any musical instrument."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Criticism.
Theodore Dreiser, the novelist, said at a tea in Greenwich Village: "Criticism is a lost art. The average critic understands the work he criticizes about as well as—"

"But here's a story. A woman was going through a picture exhibition with her husband. They came to a picture called 'Saved,' which represented a dripping Newfoundland dog standing over a dripping and unconscious child that he had just rescued from the river flowing in the background.

"The woman was deeply interested. In this picture, she said: "No wonder the poor child's fainted after dragging that great big dog out of the water."

"Ain't It the Truth?"
"Halloo, old top!" said Bertie generally. "did you catch that train all right last night?"

"Oh, I caught it all right," replied Jack dejectedly. "Saw the rear lights disappearing as I arrived on the platform."

"But, hang it all, you just said you caught it," corrected Bertie.

Jack sighed. "The married man who misses the last train always catches it," he said.

Any man who can keep his umbrellas in the right place has the faculty of saving money.

One Way of Knowing.
Two friends put up at a hotel, and one of them could not sleep or for some other reason got up early the following morning and went for a walk before breakfast.

He returned in time to join his friend at the meal, and was greeted by the jocular:

"Up and early this morning, Bill. What's the trouble?"

"How do you know I was up early, Jim?" Bill fended.

"I heard you go out an hour before I came down," explained Bill.

"How did you know it was me, though?" queried Bill.

"Oh, I can always tell your footsteps by your cough!"—Answers.

No Press Facilities.
"According to this authority, Methuselah lived only a trifle more than eighty years."

"If that's the case, how did he get the reputation of being so old?"

"I'm blest if I know. There were no newspaper reporters in those days to interview him every time he celebrated a birthday and add ten or twenty years to his age so the 'story' would be worth a front-page position,"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

So many people are imposed on because they fear they may be entertaining an angel unawares.

Here's Good Advice: Relieve Your Fatigue With Sleep. Avoid Stimulants

THERE is nothing in the world so reconstructive as sound, refreshing sleep. During sleep the system rids itself of the fatigue poisons that have accumulated during the day. The food elements are taken up by the various tissues that require rebuilding nutriment.

It is important that you get plenty of health-bringing sleep. Anything that interferes with your sleep hampers and hinders you—mentally and physically.

A common cause of physical weakness and mental depression is the reaction following over-stimulation by the drug, caffeine, and other elements found in both coffee and tea.

If you have an idea that coffee or tea drinking may be injurious to your health, why not stop it for a week or so, and drink delicious, fragrant Postum instead.

Postum is a rich, golden-brown, pure cereal beverage. It contains no harmful elements of any kind. You can drink Postum as many times a day as you or the children desire a grateful, refreshing beverage.

Your grocer sells both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for fully 20 minutes.

COOPERATIVE MILK MAR- KETING COMPANY

The Chicago Milk Marketing Company in the Chicago Dairy District has drawn up a new contract which will completely reorganize the workings of the company. The Chicago Milk Marketing Company, due to poor management and the withdrawal of many of its members, has had a hard struggle for existence. At present the farmers are getting 80% of the retail price, while the other 20% goes for distribution, cost and profits. In many other cities the producer is getting one-half the price the consumer pays, as he did in Chicago before the war.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, the Illinois Agricultural Association and the other State Associations surrounding Chicago have offered assistance, and through this an arrangement was made whereby a committee of nine was appointed, which are as follows:

C. V. Gregory, editor Prairie Farmer, chairman.
C. Larsen, of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

H. C. Hemmingway, of Janesville, Wis., representing the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation.
Perry Crane, of Indianapolis, Ind., representing the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations.

J. T. Williams, of Sterling, Ill.,
A. C. Stoen, of Bassett, Wis., and T. R. Keene, of Wheeler, Ind., representing the Milk Producers Cooperative Marketing Company.

John Rathbun, of Lombard, Ill., and Dan Gilley, of Barrington, Ill., representing the producers at large.

Resort of Thirsty Americans Destroyed by Fire

Birds That Are Weather-Wise.
Some birds are good weather prophets. The green woodpecker is known in some parts of this country as the "rain-bird," because you hear his laughing cry so often before a deluge. The missel-thrush, again, has gained the name of "storm cock," because he sings before wind or rain.
